Panhandle Law Officials Learn About New Laws, Regulations

(Lincoln, Neb.) Members of the Attorney General Office's Criminal Bureau updated law enforcement officers, attorneys and criminal-justice students on changes and additions to state law and regulations in a seminar at Chadron State College today.

"Ensuring the law enforcement community has the most up-to-date information on changes to state law is critical in our efforts to protect Nebraskans," said Attorney General Bruning. "We're happy to provide education and service to help law enforcement become fully aware of the tools they have available."

Assistant Attorney's General John Freudenberg and Corey O'Brien discussed new laws and updated regulations enacted in the previous legislative session.

Some of the areas covered included the increased offenses under the Gang Restriction Act (LB63), the Child Protection Bill (LB97), and the Public Protection Act (LB155).
